about Our Family >>>>

We, Rob and Carrie, are full-time missionaries with Campus Crusade for Christ and have been assigned to Canada's FamilyLife ministry in Langley, BC. Our goal is to help give every person an opportunity to find new life in Jesus Christ.

We are integrating the good news of Christ and biblical principles on family to effectively develop Godly families who change the world one home at a time.

We serve FamilyLife as directors of single parent ministries developing and incorporating single parent families into the already established FamilyLife ministry. Rob, previously a creative director for eBay, uses his advertising/marketing/graphic design skills in designing, producing, and implementing ministry outreaches, instructional Bible studies, manuals, advertising, promotional, and resource material for all FamilyLife venues.

You don't need to look very long at the state of the family today to see that there is a tremendous need for spiritual guidance in our homes. Our desire is to take people on a FAITH ADVENTURE. "Faith Adventure's" start with one person discovering Jesus Christ, experiencing the power of the Holy Spirit by helping someone else discover Jesus, and inspiring others to do the same.

No one person or organization can fulfill the Great Commission alone. But we can reach one. And that one can reach another. And another. And another... until everyone has been impacted by the transforming power of the Gospel. It is clear that families around the world are being destroyed and are in desperate trouble. We all need Jesus and His Word in our lives in order to bring about healing.

We believe that the world can be reached for Christ by meeting the relational needs of the family. We desire not only to reach them, but also to equip them with God's plan for the family so that they can leave a godly legacy that will ripple outwards and impact future generations.

Such a task takes teamwork! Given the magnitude of our need, we work by having a team – people and churches who send us and believe that God is working through us. Our team supports us with prayer and with the finances for us to remain faithful to our call as missionaries.

How to Invest >>>>

Invest. It's not just another word for donate. When you financially support Rob and Carrie Green, missionaries with FamilyLife, you truly are investing in the marriages and families of Canada and the world.

It means...

- ◆ More couples attending conferences and seminars
- ◆ New and better resources in more languages
- ◆ More people introduced to Jesus Christ
- ◆ More churches, small groups, mentors, and HomeBuilders equipped to do something.

hosting Marriage & Family Seminars >>>

If you had the chance to change the culture of marriage and family in your neighbourhood or your church or your business. How would you do it?

We believe hosting a marriage and family seminar can have that kind of impact. There are 2 ways we help.

1. We come to the hosting location. The host sets up the chairs, plugs in the coffee, gets the word out (we provide promotional material) and FamilyLife teachers do the rest.
2. We can also recommend a great video conference that the host tailors to suit the environment and the hosts' calendar.

Marriage Conferences >>>>

A simple invitation to your neighbours or colleagues or friends: “Would you like to go to a marriage conference with us?” It’s an invitation that has transformed thousands of marriages over the past 30 years. That’s how long we’ve been hosting Weekend to Remember marriage conferences in Canada. And the thousands of couples who’ve attended over the years tell us the #1 REASON they come is because someone invited them.

Find a Weekend to Remember Getaway or a One-day marriage and family seminar near you. Go to familylifecanada.com for a list of events in your region. Then start inviting.

Invite your friends. Invite your small group. Invite your kids or your parents. Invite your Facebook friends. Invite your whole church and your whole neighbourhood.

Invite. It’s an easy first step.

equipping HomeBuilders >>>>

A thriving marriage and family doesn't just happen. It's built over time. With patience and commitment and lots of trial and error.

It also takes some outside help. Someone to help you get off to a good start. Someone to offer encouragement, advice, coaching. Someone to help you develop relational or parenting skills you didn't learn from your parents. Someone to cheer you on when you want to give up. Someone to introduce you to a Source of love and strength beyond your own.

Those 'Someones' are the people we call HomeBuilders. HomeBuilders are not willing to stand to the side and watch families crumble. They are individuals, couples, churches and organizations that are doing something to help marriages and families thrive.

Helping to Reach Out >>>>

To children – One way to build a home might be to provide one for a child who doesn't have a family.

HOPE for ORPHANS

Hope for Orphans connects churches with orphans and foster children in Canada and around the world.

To single parent families – We offer ongoing support to single parent families and those wanting to help meet their needs.

Our website singleparentfamilylife.com strives to provide current information and practical assistance, while enabling a way to connect.

To the global family – FamilyLife hosts conferences and provides resources to developing countries overseas. FamilyLife HomeBuilding even takes place half a world away!

Developing Mentors >>>>

Ever think that your marriage, your story, or your lessons learned could help another couple? Ever considered becoming a marriage mentor?

FamilyLife helps get people started. We even help in setting up a marriage mentoring network in one's community.

And we train individuals to become online mentors. FamilyLife e-Mentors are not marriage and family experts. They're just ordinary people with real life experience and a desire to make a difference.

Small Groups >>>>

Life change happens in community.

FamilyLife helps others experience life change through HomeBuilders Couples Series®. These small-group studies allow couples of all ages to learn timeless principles from God's word in a warm environment of friendship and encouragement.

We provide the content, the host provides the hospitality and guides the conversation.

Choose from real-life topics, each designed to help build a rock-solid marriage.
